

Families and schools can work easily together when they have the right tools. ReadyRosie is a birth through 3rd grade cohesive family engagement resource that facilitates family partnerships for powerful student outcomes. Your families will receive short, modeled moment videos via text or email each week. These videos model games and activities they can enjoy with their child to support the learning at school.

Take 5 Minutes for Families

It just takes five minutes a week to begin building a home-school connection. Here are just a few ways using the ReadyRosie Share platform.

Share Videos Linked to Learning with Families

1 Create Custom Playlists

ReadyRosie sends a playlist of videos out each Monday. However, you can create your own playlists to support the learning taking place in your classroom. Take Home Learning to the next level!

Click "Playlists" on the left-hand side

Click "Add Playlist"

Give your playlist a title, short description, choose the class to send it to, and select your videos to send.

Follow the prompts to translate your playlist if needed

Save and schedule your playlist to go to families!

2 Encourage Families to Respond to the Videos

Parents Will:

1. Watch the video.
2. Do the activity with their child.
3. Click the "We Did It" button. We did it!
4. Comment to share how the activity went.

(example: Maria could identify the numbers 0-7, we will keep working on the rest!)

Co-Create Data with Families

3 Communicate with Families

Families can comment on videos, providing feedback on how the activity went. You will receive a notification and can comment back for personal, one to one, communication.

1. Click the envelope in the top right-hand corner to read video comments from your families.
2. Look for families with a number next to their name for comments and click on their name.
3. After reading comment, scroll to the top and reply.

4 Watch Your Families Grow

You can keep track of the number of videos viewed and the learning outcomes your families are experiencing by opening your classroom, then clicking on a child's name.
